At the present time, there are many different ways to create a composition of media or a video that comprises media. These compositions may be created, for example, using a video camera or editing software (such as iMovie or Final Cut Pro). In addition, video data, created using still photographs, film, digital camera, video camera, or still video data or video clips, may be edited. Video data is typically represented in a storage format using the Moving Picture Experts Group (MPEG) compression standard. The standard MPEG-2 format is a popular format for representing digital moving picture and associated audio, video, and other data. The MPEG-2 standard is designed to compress digital video and associated audio data into digital form. It is used in a wide range of applications, such as DVDs, digital TV, video telephony, and computer
